HOROSCOPE.

Sunday, June 10, 1917.

According to astrology this is an exceedingly unfortunate day. Uranus, Jupiter, Mercury and Mars are all in friendly aspect.

All the influences are believed to cause depression of spirit and even physical maladies. Despondency is increased, also, by the occult power of war conditions that reflect upon minds still conscious on the earth plane.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have heavy losses in the coming year. Troubles through writings or papers is prognosticated.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly clever and talented, but they may not be fortunate in business.

of past days must sink into oblivion. This applies to the United States as well as Europe.

While Mars has power to direct Americans toward the world conflict it is prophesied that our soldiers will fight without rancor or hatred, but with a noble and unselfish spirit.

FIRESTONE DENTISTS TREAT 20,000 YEARLY

One of the most important factors in the system of guarding the health of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company employees is the dental clinic. Twenty thousand cases are treated in the clinic annually, service and advice being given to the 12,000 factory and office employees.

Every applicant for a position with the company must pass a dental as well as a physical examination, and the condition of his teeth are checked up every three months. Tooth brushes and dentifrices are furnished at cost and careful instructions given as to the proper care of the teeth.

The company dentists treat emergency cases, make amalgam and enamel fillings, remove nerves, extract teeth, root crowns and bridges, and give prophylactic treatments. Where major operations are necessary they advise the patient as to the work required and the cost.

Telling the Age of Poultry. There are tricks in every trade, they say, and the average poultry dealer is not likely to be altogether exempt from the application of the dental clinic.
